SCHOOL OF LAW

The Sixth Annual Advocates Ball turned out to be the best Law School dance of the year, as law students, faculty, and alumni, all had a very enjoyable night.

The Senior law students appear to be getting in the spirit of Christmas at their Christmas Party held in the Student Lounge of Garey Hall.

The Most Reverend John J. Wright, S.T.D., the Bishop of Pittsburgh, delivered the sermon at the annual Red Mass, for the students and alumni of the School of Law.

The Honor Board members under the chairmanship of John Doran are chosen to represent the student body in the administration of the honor system.

The team to represent the Villanova School of Law and the Philadelphia district at the final round of National Moot Court was chosen by this trio of judges.

The Law Forum brings to the campus many outstanding men. Here Melvin M. Belli, known as the "King of Torts," holds an informal discussion following the forum.

Realizing the needs of the expanding times, Villanova University initiated in 1953, its first class in the study of law. This foresight on the part of the administration gave to Villanova the honor of being the only full-time law school on a Catholic campus in Pennsylvania. Dean Harold Gill Reuchlein stated at this time that it was the policy of the law school, "not merely to produce lawyers, but lawyers who will be a credit to themselves, their profession, and their country." This policy has shown to be an excellent one as the school's graduates start taking their places in the world.

The progress of the law school has been remarkable. From its temporary quarters in the University library, the law school in 1957 moved to Garey Hall. This building is equipped with the physical facilities equivalent to those of any law school in the country.

The Student Bar Association is busy formulating plans for the sixth annual Advocate Ball.

The Inter-Club Council has the task of co-ordinating all of the Law Club activities.

The year of 1957 was a momentous one for the new school of law. It was a year that saw many outstanding world figures come to the University campus for the official dedication of Garey Hall. Among these prominent figures were Bishop Fulton J. Sheen, Chief Justice Earl Warren, Senator John F. Kennedy, and Dublin's Lord Mayor, Robert Briscoe. Also notable among the year's events was the official acceptance of the Villanova Law School into the Association of American Law Schools.

In looking back at the events surrounding the development of the school of law it is evident that the school is setting its own fine tradition. Every year becomes a historical one, as new heights are reached by a Catholic law school so sorely needed in this section of the country.

The Law Review headed by John J. Guilfoyle is the official publication of the law students.

The staff of the Law Review is shown after discussing the proposed content for their next issue.
